IWG TO PROVIDE SUPPORT FOR DASSAULT AVIATION DURING THE 2010 VANCOUVER WINTER OLYMPICS

10 February, 2010

Burnaby, BC, Canada – International Water-Guard will be supporting Dassault Aviation for incoming aircraft to the 2010 Winter Olympics in Vancouver (YVR), IWG President & CEO David C. Fox announced today.

“With the world coming to Vancouver this month for the 2010 Winter Olympics, we are pleased to be able to assist Dassault Falcon operators by storing spares and providing facilities to the Falcon Field Representative,” he stated. “our offices are only 20 minutes from YVR, and we will enable the rapid provision of assistance to any aircraft needing support.”

IWG has a strong relationship with Falcon Jet, supplying its IWG-A4 Water Treatment Unit for new F2000, F900 and 7X aircraft, and in collaboration with Dassault Aviation providing an STC'd retrofit kit for the F2000 and F900 series. IWG's products protect passengers and crew from on-board water contamination wherever they operate in the world, using ultraviolet light disinfection technology.

International Water-Guard is a Canadian aerospace company focusing on aircraft potable water treatment, systems and components. IWG has expertise in all aspects of water treatment, and has the products and know-how to provide high quality water for passengers and crew, and light weight, space saving solutions for the aircraft operator.
