IWG TECHNOLOGIES INC. ANNOUNCES FIRST ORDER FOR AVIATION WATER HEATER.

July 20, 2011

Burnaby, BC, Canada – IWG Technologies, Inc. today announced receipt of the first order for its new IWG-ES7 On-Demand Aircraft Water Heater by its subsidiary, International Water-Guard Industries Inc. This follows the acquisition of the product line from Keltech, Inc.

“In any acquisition, despite all of the due diligence, there is always a question of what the reality of the business will look like” said David Fox, IWG Technologies president & CEO. “We have been seeing a very positive response from our customer base on the news, and now less than two weeks after closing the transaction we are receiving a first purchase order.

“Our integration process is progressing well, and product is already available within normal eight to twelve week lead times. Within the next few months we should have authorization to ship units as aeronautical products with a Transport Canada Form One. This should enable customers to integrate the units onto aircraft with a simplified documentation process. Following this, we will put the products through an expanded series of aviation environmental tests (DO-160), to allow installation at an increasing number of facilities worldwide”

IWG Technologies, Inc is the public holding company for International Water-Guard Industries Inc., a Canadian aerospace company focusing on aircraft potable water treatment, water systems and components. IWG has expertise in all aspects of water treatment, and has the products and know-how to provide high quality water for passengers and crew, and lightweight, space saving solutions for the aircraft operator.
